Girlguiding

Girlguiding codebreakers infiltrate M15!

Did you know that M15 used Guides as messengers during the First World War? Amazingly, Guides even couriered messages between the countries negotiating the Treaty of Versailles, which officially ended the war.

To take on this important task, girls needed to be 'of good-standing, quick and cheerful'.

We use codes today in more ways than you might realise. Could you be the next expert codebreaker?

Have a go at breaking this secret code.
